

Municipal-focused experienced attorney sought by Inslee Best Doezie & Ryder, P.S.

Inslee Best is a boutique-sized Bellevue law firm with a long-established and highly respected municipal law practice. For more than five decades, our attorneys have served as trusted advisors to cities, counties, and special purpose districts across Washington. Our Municipal Group is composed of deeply experienced practitioners who work collaboratively, share institutional knowledge, and are committed to delivering exceptional counsel without the burnout culture often associated with larger firms.

Our lawyers serve as general counsel and special counsel to public agencies, guiding clients through the full spectrum of municipal legal issues. Our depth of experience allows us to handle complex matters efficiently while maintaining a healthy, sustainable work pace.

We are seeking a senior associate or counsel with at least six years of experience to join our Municipal Group. Ideal candidates will have experience working with Washington public agencies, strong client-management skills, and excellent communication abilities. This role offers the opportunity to practice at a high level in a supportive, collegial environment that values professional excellence and work/life balance.

This position is eligible for an annual discretionary bonus, 401(k) plan, medical, dental, and vision insurance, personal medical and parental leave, pre-tax commuting benefits, and up to ten paid holidays. More information regarding benefits and programs may be found on our website. Base compensation depends on qualifications and experience, with an expected range of $150,000 to $180,000, while seasoned lateral candidates can expect significantly higher compensation based on their depth of experience.
